

Providence Alaska Medical Center
WIC Program

PAMC WIC is a hospital-based program that serves inpatient and outpatient clients. We take care of many high-risk clients including rural families who deliver at PAMC and have infants in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit. We have a small breastfeeding support program, including a part-time peer counselor and lactation consultant and we have a very active breast pump loan program.

Our caseload is approx. 1785 clients. We are open 6 days a week, 8:30 –5:30. Many of our staff have been with the program for a long time and we are always willing to share ideas.
